

South Ossett News

South Ossett Infants Academy

It has been another busy week in school and the children have been working hard in their lessons. Next week, I will be popping into maths to lessons to see what the children are learning and how they use resources and recordings to show their understanding of maths.

Also next week, we will be sending out a letter about a parent governor vacancy. Governors play a very important role in the life of the school and, as well as attending meetings to get a real insight into school life, they also are invited into classrooms to see teaching and learning in action! More information will follow about this.
